

Wanderlust
Words and music by Tom Savre © 1997

Build a fire – don't let it die
Fuel your desire burning right through the night
Lay back in the tall cool grass looking up at the stars
I wonder who's out there right now – looking at ours

Chorus: I've always wanted to wander - all over this wide world
A roving gypsy scholar – rolling free
Hear everybody's story – see all of nature's wonders
Unravel life's great mystery

A wild wind calls and I will follow – the sun the moon and stars
The path I take I'll make my own
I'd love to live forever – but I know that I could die tomorrow
And start my long journey home

Run down to the ocean – throw your body into the raging sea
Feel the universe in motion - waves rolling endlessly
Watching the sun drop down – fiery blaze in an emerald sky
I wonder who's out there right now – watching it rise

(Chorus)

We came to a mountain – we just could not pass by
Without a doubt we had to try to climb
Look out at the coastline – four thousand meters below
Remember when we were down there – looking up at the snow?

(Chorus)

Now I live in the city – and ride my bike
All over this crazy town – on hot electric neon nights
Look at the way we live – cell phone, T.V. I-Pod, P.C.
But when you go to sleep at night – what do you dream?

(Chorus)

Build a fire – don't let it die
Fuel your desire burning right through the night
Lay back in the tall cool grass looking up at the stars
I wonder who's out there right now – looking at ours
